MEDICINAL.

CURES OTHERS

BAD COUGH, SPIT UP BLOOD, CONSUMPTION.

Mr. E. C. McLean.
I was very low with a cough, and at times spit up much blood. I was not able to do the least work, but most of the time was in bed. I was all run-down, very weak, and I was extremely despondent. The first bottle I took did not seem to do me much good, but I had faith in it and continued using it until I had taken fifteen bottles, and now I do not look nor feel like the same man I was one year ago. People are astonished, and say, "Well, last year this time I would not have thought that you would be living now." I can truthfully say I am entirely cured of a disease, which, but for your wonderful "Discovery," would have resulted in my death.

SNOW 400 FEET DEEP.

One of the wildest and most hazardous journeys ever made in Alaska was accomplished this winter by J. T. Haley and a companion named Hooper, two traders who had stores on the tributaries of Yukon river. They left Circle City, which is situated just within the arctic circle, February 22d, accompanied by two Indians who were taken along to carry baggage. The thermometer was seventy-four below zero and to form an adequate idea of the fall of snow in that part of the world, it is but necessary to state that Circle City is a canyon about four hundred feet deep and half a mile wide, which was filled entirely to the level, causing the country to resemble an undulating plain.

The non-arrival of the steamer Arctic from St. Michael's Island at the outlet of the Yukon caused the supply of provisions to become exhausted before the winter was half over. The captain of the vessel became angered at some trivial occurrence and abandoned the steamer at Fort Yukon, fifteen hundred miles from the mines. The summer season was fast coming to a close and before another man could be obtained to take his place the river froze and left the vessel fast in the ice, which jeopardized the lives of over 1,000 miners.

Early in the winter all hands were put on limited rations and when the new year dawned there were only nine sacks of flour in all the camps. Several days previous the supply of bacon and beans had been exhausted. However, there was ample coffee and salt on hand and an abundance of wild game insured the miners against starvation, though they fully realized that such a diet for six months would incapacitate them from doing a vigorous summer's work in the mines. The situation became desperate and they decided to brave the terrors of an arctic winter and travel 2,100 miles to Port Townsend to obtain supplies as soon as possible.

Haley and his companion, accompanied by two Indians who were each paid $20 a day, were provided with strong snow shoes. They were dressed in the heavy arctic furs. Leaving Fort Cudahy, Northwest Territory, Canada, 21 miles from the Alaskan boundary, the party descended forty miles to the Yukon, thence up Miller Creek to Circle City. Leaving Circle City they ascended the Yukon and crossed several lakes. Travelling was very difficult on account of the darkness and the weather being penetratingly cold. In 32 days the party traveled 820 miles, reaching tidewater at Dyer inlet near Juneau where they embarked on the steamer Al Ki for Puget Sound.

A TWO POUND BABY.—Lying in a cozy little crib just large enough to accommodate a doll, in a pleasant home in Burlington, New Jersey, is the smallest baby ever born in that part of New Jersey. The child is the infant daughter of Reed and Cassie Force, and was born on Tuesday night, April 2. She is smaller than the average doll, and weighs less than two pounds. Her arms, perfectly moulded, are no larger than a man's little finger, and her legs are about the size of a man's thumb. An ordinary teacup will cover the little one's head. The baby is perfectly healthy, and Dr. Walter E. Hall, the attending physician, says she will live. The father and mother are of medium stature. The little one is receiving a host of visitors, and the parents take as much delight in showing her as if she was a baby of twelve pounds.

PAINLESS DENTISTRY.—A Boston dentist claims to have discovered a way of cleaning a cavity in which the use of an instrument is entirely unnecessary. Instead of cutting or drilling into the decayed dentine, he places in the cavity a preparation which eats away the decayed part in a comparatively short time and leaves the cavity ready for filling. It is claimed that the preparation will not injure the sound bone tissue, but only attacks that which is decayed. Other dentists say that anything strong enough to eat away decayed tissue must at the same time injure the sound tissue. Moreover, to act at all expeditiously, the preparation must be so strong as to be a rather dangerous substance to handle inside the mouth.

What Shall I Take?

is the anxious question asked by those who are not feeling well—have no appetite—are out of sorts—have no energy—feel tired out. Perhaps you are feeling sick yourself!

Many medicines are recommended, doctors consulted—(in many cases) much money spent in this search for health—and yet it can all be avoided. Wise people commence at once taking and are soon made well and strong. Nearly every prescription given by physicians for such troubles contains IRON—which some people say they cannot take. Try Brown's Iron Bitters—it is warranted not to give headache, stain the teeth or cause constipation as all other Iron Medicines do.
